The Southern Historical Association (SHA) was organized on November 2, 1934 and charged with promoting an “investigative rather than a memorial approach” to southern history. The Association seeks to: 1) foster historically-based thinking in the American South; 2) foster the study and teaching of southern history at all educational levels; 3) encourage the collection and preservation of historical records within the American South; and 4) support and encourage state and local historical societies, museums, and educational organizations within the American South. The Association holds an annual meeting, usually in the first or second week of November, and publishes the quarterly Journal of Southern History.

The SHA aims to be an inclusive organization and strives to treat all members with dignity and respect and to provide a community that is free from discrimination, whether based on race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, marital status, or any other status or classification protected by federal, state, or local law.

The Southern Historical Association opposes sexual harassment in all aspects of academia and insists that all members adhere to our professional code of conduct. Please read our full policy at our website: thesha.org/about

The SHA maintains two permanent offices: the editorial office of the Journal of Southern History at Rice University since 1959, and the Secretary-Treasurer’s office at the University of Georgia since 1980.

Inquiries concerning articles, books, book reviews, advertising in the Journal of Southern History, departmental activities, and professional news and notices should be directed to:

ABOUT SCBS

SCBS is a regional branch of the North American Conference on British Studies (NACBS). The Conference meets annually, customarily in the fall in conjunction with the Southern Historical Association. The meeting comprises two days of paper sessions with two or more panels running concurrently. The SCBS construes British Studies very broadly to include the history, literature, arts, and culture of the Home Islands and the Commonwealth. It welcomes into membership anyone interested in such subjects, whether or not pursued professionally.

ABOUT SLSA

The SLSA promotes research and teaching in the field of southern labor and working-class studies, facilitates active programs of scholarly exchange among academics, teachers, archivists, and activists, and works to build and strengthen a sense of community among students and scholars of labor and the working class in the U.S. South.
STATEMENT ON INCLUSIVENESS

The Southern Historical Association (“SHA” or the “Association”) is committed to being an inclusive, diverse, and equitable organization. The SHA strives to treat all its members with dignity and respect and strives to provide a community that is free from discrimination and harassment in all respects, whether based on race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, marital status, or any other status or classification protected by federal, state, or local law.

CODE OF PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

The Southern Historical Association (“SHA” or the “Association”) strongly opposes discrimination and harassment in all aspects of academia. Further, the Association encourages informational activities designed to promote the education of its members and the public regarding discrimination and harassment and encourages historians to speak out against such incidents. Simultaneously, the Association opposes efforts to limit academic discourse and free speech on campuses, and it disapproves of the violation of academic freedom. Discrimination and harassment within academe are unethical, unprofessional, and constitute a threat to academic freedom.

Purpose

The purpose of this Code of Professional Conduct is to ensure a safe, welcoming, and inclusive environment, free of discrimination and harassment, for all members and participants during the SHA’s annual meeting (whether at an official or unofficial event or activity), in traveling to and from the annual meeting, during a SHA committee meeting, or in connection with performing committee or other official work for the SHA committee work (whether in-person, by telephone, or through electronic communication), all such events and activities referred to collectively herein as the “SHA Events and Activities”.

To that end, the SHA strictly prohibits discrimination and harassment against members and participants at all SHA Events and Activities, whether based on race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, marital status, or any other status or classification protected by federal, state, or local law.

Any form of discrimination or harassment based on any status or classification protected by federal, state, or local law at SHA Events and Activities is a serious violation of this Code of Professional Conduct and undermines the atmosphere of trust essential to the academic environment. It is unacceptable to condone discrimination or harassment or to disregard complaints of discrimination or harassment. Such actions or inactions may allow or promote a hostile environment and are inconsistent with the maintenance of academic freedom.

Simultaneously, the SHA recognizes that among historians and scholars who study and discuss difficult topics, there may be times when the display of offensive materials and the discussion of negative and even denigrating stereotypes and labels is reasonable for honest scholarly conversation.

Additionally, the SHA requires all members and participants, including attendees, staff, contractors, temporary staff, vendors, exhibitors, venue staff, employees, volunteers, and guests, to engage in respectful behavior and to preserve the Association’s standard of professionalism at all times at SHA Events and Activities.

Expected Behavior

- All participants are expected to comply with this Code of Professional Conduct at all SHA Events and Activities.
- All participants are expected to abide by the norms of professional respect that are necessary to promote the conditions for free academic interchange.
- If any participant witnesses or is subjected to a potential violation of this Code of Professional Conduct, the participant must immediately report the conduct as directed under this Code in the Complaint Process below.
- If any participant witnesses or is subjected to a situation in which someone may be in imminent physical danger, the participant must immediately alert staff, security personnel, or law enforcement, as appropriate.

Examples of Unacceptable Behavior

These examples are not intended to be exhaustive.

Sexual Harrassment

Unacceptable behavior includes any form of sexual harassment, and the SHA opposes sexual harassment in any setting. Sexual harassment of members or other participants at SHA Events and Activities is strictly prohibited under this Code of Professional Conduct. Sexual harassment includes behavior that demeans, humiliates, or threatens an individual on the basis of that individual’s sex, gender, gender identity, gender expression, or sexual orientation. In the academic context, the term “sexual harassment” may be used to describe a wide range of behaviors.
Sexual harassment includes, but is not limited to, the following:

- Gender-based or sexist remarks or behavior
- Intentionally misgendering someone or refusing to use a person’s preferred pronouns
- Sexual advances linked to reward or accompanied by threat of professional harm or other forms of retaliation
- Persistent and unwelcome solicitation of emotional or physical intimacy
- Sexual assault

Other Forms of Harassment and Discrimination

Harassment and discrimination on the basis of any protected characteristic are also strictly prohibited under this Code of Professional Conduct. Harassment includes inappropriate, discriminatory, or harassing comments or actions based on race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, sexual orientation, gender identity, gender expression, pregnancy, marital status, and/or any other status or classification protected by federal, state or local law.

Examples may include, but are not limited to:

- Epithets, slurs, or negative stereotyping based on any protected status or classification
- Denigrating jokes and display or circulation of written or graphic material that denigrates or shows hostility or aversion toward an individual or group based on a protected status or classification
- Behavior that demeans, humiliates, or threatens an individual on the basis of any protected status or classification

Retaliation

Retaliation, retribution, or reprisal against any individual who in good faith reports any potential or actual violation of this Code of Professional Conduct or who assists or participates in any investigation under this Code of Professional Conduct is strictly prohibited. Any such retaliation constitutes a serious violation of this Code of Professional Conduct and will be subject to appropriate disciplinary action. Any person who witnesses or is subjected to retaliation must immediately report that conduct as directed under this Code of Professional Conduct.

The complaint intake process is handled anonymously and independently via the incident management service NAVEX. All complaints will be taken seriously.

Upon receipt of a complaint under the Code of Professional Conduct, the SHA Professional Conduct Committee or the Committee’s designee will conduct a prompt, thorough investigation of the complaint as appropriate. Any member of the Professional Conduct Committee who believes they have a conflict of interest will not participate in the investigation process. Depending on the circumstances, the Professional Conduct Committee may engage an outside investigator or counsel to conduct an investigation on its behalf as the Committee deems appropriate. Following investigation, the Professional Conduct Committee will refer its findings to the Executive Committee or the Executive Council.

Every reasonable effort will be made to keep all matters related to the complaint and the investigation confidential, and investigations will be designed to protect the privacy of the parties concerned to the extent reasonably possible.

Disciplinary Action

Individuals who violate this Code of Professional Conduct will be subject to appropriate disciplinary action by the Executive Committee or the Executive Council, as will individuals who make complaints under this Code in bad faith. Appropriate disciplinary action may include, but is not limited to, a verbal or written warning, censure, ejection from the annual meeting without refund of any applicable registration fees or costs, being banned from participating in future SHA Events and Activities, or expulsion from the membership in the Association.

Appeals

In the event that an individual is dissatisfied with any action taken as a result of the investigation, that individual may submit an appeal to the SHA’s Executive Council within thirty (30) days following the action. An appeal may be granted in the discretion of the Executive Council.

Questions

Any questions regarding this Code of Professional Conduct should be directed to the President of the SHA.

WELCOME TO KANSAS CITY!

Diane Mutti-Burke
MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE MESSAGE

Whitney Nell Stewart

Welcome to Kansas City!
On behalf of the Membership Committee, welcome to Kansas City! While SHA members always look forward to the annual meeting, we can’t deny the anticipation for this year’s special parallel conference with the Western Historical Association. As a Texan, I know well the connections and overlaps of these regions’ histories, and I cannot wait to see what new ideas emerge as we attend panels, mingle at receptions, and engage with each other’s work.

But of course, the SHA is about much more than this conference. Your membership dollars allow us to work 365 days a year for southern history. We stay busy publishing the best in the field, advocating for history workers across the nation, and bringing scholars together year-round through innovative programming. This year’s Membership Committee has focused on maintaining and growing our membership, expanding our virtual programs, and building on beloved conference events. These include the third annual July Membership Drive, pre-conference Across Generations interview with the SHA president, and Coffee, Tea, & Confab virtual hangouts. Other highlights include:

Classic Texts in Southern History
This SHA virtual program brings together members to consider classic texts in southern history. A panel of experts discuss the content, context, and meaning of the text, both in the time of its publication and in our own time, and then open to the audience to further explore this canonical work. Our first session in Spring 2024 explored the SHA icon and classic text: C. Vann Woodward and his Origins of the New South, 1877-1919. Joining Membership Committee member and moderator Robert Greene II were three exceptional scholars: Vernon Burton, Sarah Gardner, and Natalie J. Ring. Stay tuned for more about our Spring 2025 session.

Public Square
The Public Square is back at the SHA meeting! In its third year, the Square will continue highlighting the important work of public historians while also functioning as a meeting place for all conference goers. Centrally located in the exhibit hall, come to meet, mingle, and chat about the work we do in and with the public. Stop by any time to talk with folks from local museums, historic sites, archives, and university Public History programs, who will “take-over” the Square for an hour or two during the conference (make sure to check out the schedule in the conference program).

We’d love to see more of our wonderful SHA members at these events and programs, so please join in. Keep an eye on the SHA newsletter and social media for more info.

Have thoughts on how we can improve or increase membership? Feel free to reach out anytime. And when you see me around the conference, make sure to say howdy.

Cheers!

2024 Membership Committee Chair
